Buckridge is a contrasted sans serif inspired by the lettering on the cover of a trigonometry textbook, namely the 1952 edition of Plane and Spherical Trigonometry published by Ginn & Co. Even though a book about geometry could have gone in a more rigid typographic direction, the beautifully-rendered lettering on this cover featured refreshingly humanistic elements such as a rounded E and swooping R. This typeface picks up those details and runs with them, resulting in a titling face that radiates with lightness and energy.

Available formats:

Desktop      OpenType CFF (OTF)
Web            WOFF, WOFF2
App/E-book   OpenType TrueType (TTF)

Designer: David Jonathan Ross

DJR draws letters of all shapes and sizes for custom and retail typeface designs. A native of Los Angeles, he began drawing typefaces at Hampshire College and joined The Font Bureau in 2007 where he honed his bézier-wrangling skills. Now he publishes visually imaginative and technically advanced designs at his own foundry. You'll probably find him in Western Massachusetts.

Special thanks to Jovana Jocić for consulting on the Cyrillic.
