Nickel Gothic is a stocky grotesque based on lettering found on the same 1918 Chinese banknote. Its serifed counterpart, Nickel, retains the squarish forms and closed apertures of the original, but its thicker weight and wider proportions endow it with an intense energy of its own. Despite this, Nickel Gothic is still a highly functional typeface, well-suited for large headings and body text alike.

Nickel Gothic Wide is a stocky grotesque based on lettering found on the same 1918 Chinese banknote its serifed counterpart Nickel. It retains the squarish forms and closed apertures of the serifed design, but its significantly bolder weight and wider proportions endow it with an intense energy of its own. Despite the fact that it is based on lettering from over a century ago, it has overtones of the midcentury sans serifs like Microgramma/Eurostile as well as squared gothics form the ‘70s like Neographik and Serpentine.
