Rhody is a stocky geometric slab with distinctive vertical serifs in unexpected places. Its jumping-off point was the cover of a 1952 garden calendar that I found in the Mölndals Stadsmuseum outside Gothenburg, Sweden. With narrow, straight-sided forms and curves, Rhody's quirky, mechanical look is punctuated by extra-gappy inktraps as well as blocky forms of f, j, and t.

DJR draws letters of all shapes and sizes for custom and retail typeface designs. A native of Los Angeles, he began drawing typefaces at Hampshire College and joined The Font Bureau in 2007 where he honed his bézier-wrangling skills. Now he publishes visually imaginative and technically advanced designs at his own foundry, including Fit, Manicotti, Input, Gimlet, and Bungee. You'll find him in Western Massachusetts with his partner Emily and their two dogs, Sophie and Lily.

Photos taken by André Mora at the Rhododendron Species Botanical Garden in Federal Way, Washington. Special thanks to Eben Sorkin for invaluable feedback on the letters K and X!
